Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath visited the Shri Krishna Janmabhoomi Temple in Mathura on Friday to offer prayers on Krishna Janmashtami. He also showered flowers on residents of Braj and devotees. Addressing the gathering at the birthplace of Lord Krishna, Yogi said India had faced several invasions, but none had been able to erase the faith of Sanatan traditions. Those who dared to do so were reduced to dust. Today, there is no one left even to mention their names," he said. Yogi also criticised the Samajwadi Party and Congress, questioning whether those who revered Mughal rulers Babur and Aurangzeb could respect the religious beliefs of others. Our government's faith and belief are in Shri Krishna, Shri Ram, Baba Vishwanath and Maa Vindhyavasini. But can those whose faith lies with Babur and Aurangzeb respect your faith?" he said. He alleged that the followers of Babur and Aurangzeb were trying to "spread poison" in society. Some people cannot change their ways. They may pose a threat to the safety of our sisters and daughters. Our government will never allow their plans to succeed," Yogi said. CM Yogi showered rose petals on the residents of Braj and the devotees. Meanwhile, the devotees kept chanting slogans in praise of Lord Krishna. CM Yogi offered prayers at Shri Krishna Janmabhoomi. During the Mangala Aarti, women danced enthusiastically to the beat of drums and cymbals. During the Mangala Aarti, women danced enthusiastically to the beat of drums and cymbals. Mathura-Vrindavan will be developed like Ayodhya and Kashi' Yogi said those unhappy with the construction of the grand Ram Temple were trying to defame Ayodhya. Our effort is to develop a grand complex in Mathura-Vrindavan on the lines of Ayodhya and Kashi. We will develop Braj according to your sentiments and leave no stone unturned," he said. Meanwhile, long queues of devotees were seen at the Banke Bihari Temple. Nepal: Two Trapped Tunnel Workers Rescued 10 Days After Floods

Kathmandu: Two men have been rescued alive from a tunnel at the Trishuli 3A hydropower project 10 days after the Bhotekohi flash floods disaster. They have been identified as Kabir Maharjan, 45, and Sanjay Sah, 30. Maharjan was working as a mechanical supervisor on the project, while Shah was a foreman, according to the Public Relations Directorate of the Nepal Army. The Nepal Army-led security command has been engaged in the search and rescue operation using specialised equipment. The rescue followed an earlier breakthrough in which rescuers heard voices from inside the tunnel and established communication with people believed to be trapped there, the Kathmandu Post newspaper reported. The Nepali Army and Armed Police Force intensified efforts to reach them after the voices were heard. The death toll in Nepal due to the flash floods rose to 1,282 on Friday. The flash floods, triggered by an ice-rock avalanche near the Nepal-Tibet border on August 26, devastated towns and villages in northern and central Nepal, leaving a trail of destruction. So far, 359 bodies have been recovered in Chitwan, 218 in Nawalparasi East, 208 in Nawalparasi West, 185 in Nuwakot, 72 in Gorkha, 60 in Dhading, 140 in Rasuwa and 38 in Tanahu, according to Nepal Police. With two people dying while undergoing treatment in two hospitals in Kathmandu, the death toll has reached 1,282.
