Delhi Metro Adds 20 Weekday Trips as GRAP-1 Kicks In

New Delhi, Oct 21 : The Delhi Metro Rail Corporation (DMRC) on Wednesday announced that it will operate 20 additional train trips on weekdays from Thursday, following the enforcement of stage 1 of the Graded Response Action Plan (GRAP) in the national capital.

The DMRC will also intensify anti-pollution measures at its construction sites and surrounding areas across Delhi to help curb dust and pollution. "From tomorrow, Delhi Metro will be running 20 additional trips on its network on weekdays to encourage more and more people to use public transport instead of their personal vehicles," the DMRC said in a statement.

As part of its intensified measures, the corporation will undertake activities to reduce dust levels at construction sites, clear road dust from surrounding stretches, and remove garbage from footpaths and road medians, the statement added.

DMRC engineers will conduct thorough inspections of construction sites and adjoining roads to ensure that construction materials are properly covered and wheel-washing facilities for outgoing vehicles remain operational. These drives will supplement measures being implemented by the DMRC to control pollution. Around 31 km of city roads are currently under the DMRC's temporary jurisdiction to facilitate Metro construction work. Most of these stretches have already been repaired to prevent damaged roads from contributing to dust pollution, the DMRC said. More than 250 anti-smog guns and mist guns have also been installed at construction sites, Metro stations and office buildings to reduce dust levels.

The DMRC's Environment Department is conducting daily inspections to ensure compliance with environmental norms. Authorities in Delhi enforced GRAP 1 on Wednesday amid deteriorating air quality in the national capital. According to the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB), the Air Quality Index (AQI) climbed to 238 on Wednesday morning and entered the "poor" category for the first time this season.

The sudden rise in pollution ahead of the winter season has raised concerns, with authorities preparing measures to curb emissions from road and construction dust, vehicles and industrial units. Air quality will also be closely monitored in the coming days.

Rajasthan Police Warns of Fake QR Code Cyber Scams

Rajasthan Police's R-4-C (Rajasthan Cyber Crime) wing has issued an advisory outlining ways to identify scams and protect against them as cybercriminals are targeting individuals by hijacking their WhatsApp accounts. Additional Director General of Police (ADGP), Cyber Crime, V.K. Singh, said cybercriminals use techniques such as fake QR codes, social engineering and OTP theft to gain unauthorised access to WhatsApp accounts.

Once an account is compromised, scammers contact people on the victim's contact list, often seeking money under the pretext of medical emergencies or other urgent needs.

They may also circulate suspicious links to further their fraudulent activities. Police officials said that cybercriminals use several methods to gain control of WhatsApp accounts, including tricking users into linking their accounts to unknown devices through fake QR codes or malicious links, impersonating friends, officials or customer support representatives to obtain OTPs, verification codes or two-step verification PINs, exploiting suspicious applications to gain unauthorised access to SMS messages, notifications or accessibility permissions and tricking users into installing remote-access or screen-sharing applications to take control of their devices.

Warning signs to watch for are that users should remain alert to the following indicators of a possible account compromise: The Rajasthan Police has advised citizens to follow precautions to protect their accounts.

They said that QR codes received from unknown individuals, websites or unsolicited messages should not be scanned; two-step verification and a strong PIN should be enabled; an OTP, registration code or two-step verification PIN should not be shared with anyone.

The Rajasthan Police has urged citizens to report such incidents, including attempted fraud, promptly to the nearest police station or cyber police station.

Complaints can also be registered on the National Cyber Crime Reporting Portal at cybercrime.gov.in. Victims of financial cyber fraud should call the national cybercrime helpline at 1930 without delay.

Yadadri Thermal Plant's Unit 5 Synced to Grid

Hyderabad, Oct 21 : The fifth unit of Yadadri Thermal Power Station (YTPS) in Telangana was synchronised to the grid on Wednesday.

Dr S. Harish, Chairman and Managing Director of Telangana Power Generation Corporation Limited (TGGENCO), congratulated the combined efforts put in by the teams of Bharat Heavy Electricals Limited (BHEL) and TGGENCO in achieving the milestone of synchronisation of Unit 5.

TGGENCO is establishing YTPS with 5 units each of 800 MW with a total installed capacity of 4,000 MW at Veerlapalem Village, Damaracherla Mandal, Nalgonda District. The project consists of two units of 800 MW each in Stage-I and three units of 800 MW each in Stage-II.

Four units (Unit1, Unit2, Unit 3 and Unit 4) were already commissioned and put into commercial operation. On Wednesday, Unit 5 was synchronised to the grid at 11:06 hrs and was hand-tripped for taking further COD operations, said an official release.

This significant milestone was achieved under the able guidance of Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy, Deputy Chief Minister Mallu Bhatti Vikramarka, Special Chief Secretary to the Government (Energy), Navin Mittal, and Chairman and Managing Director (CMD), TGGENCO, Harish. YTPS is claimed to be the largest State-run thermal plant in independent India. The project was launched in 2017, and its revised estimated cost is Rs 36,131 crore. The commercial operation of Unit 5 is likely to start. This is expected to boost the efforts of TGGENCO to meet the increasing electricity demand due to El Nino conditions.

The electricity demand has soared to 20,003 MW against the normal level of around 15,000 MW for October. According to officials, there has been an increase in electricity demand of 5,000 MW mainly due to increased use of agricultural pump sets.

The electricity consumption by the domestic sector has also gone up as the temperatures typically seen in March are being experienced in October.

Last month, the state government decided to procure G-9 grade coal from Mahanadi Coalfields and Coal India for YTPS. The Chief Minister had taken a serious note of the stoppage of power generation due to coal shortage.

Govt Warns TV Channels on Code Violations, AI Use

New Delhi, Oct 21 : The Ministry of Information and Broadcasting (I&B) on Wednesday advised private satellite television channels to strictly comply with the Programme Code and exercise caution while using artificial intelligence tools in news and programme production, warning that violations could attract regulatory action.

In an advisory, the ministry said several channels had violated provisions of the Programme Code prescribed under the Cable Television Networks (Regulation) Act, 1995, and the Cable Television Networks Rules, 1994. It cautioned that any breach of the code could invite action under the existing regulatory framework. "The use of AI tools may be limited to assistive capacity without compromising the accuracy, authenticity or sensitivity of news content," it said.

The ministry also raised concerns over the growing use of artificial intelligence technologies in broadcasting and asked channels to exercise due caution while deploying AI tools, including generative AI, for graphics, virtual news presentations and other programming.

The committee recommended strict adherence to statutory provisions and stressed that inappropriate behaviour, objectionable language or undesirable conduct should not be normalised through television broadcasts. The advisory also called upon channels to carefully select and sensitise panellists participating in debates and discussion programmes to prevent the dissemination of communal, inflammatory or anti-national content. The World Energy Day may includes lot of activities to increase awareness of the importance of conservation and use of energy and to promote sustainability of energy. It is heartening to learn that over 1.1 billion people worldwide, mostly sub-Sahara Africans, are living without access to electricity in this digital age. One in five people do not have electricity to satisfy their basic needs. The theme of World Energy Day-2026 is "Sustain It - Turn Action into Impact" emphasises the urgent need for tapping the renewable energy resources to the fullest possible extent worldwide.

Save Energy for Universal Accessibility:

Saving energy increasing efficiency and conservation are for the most part terms used to depict ways we can decrease our overall energy consumption. Energy can be saved at homes by switching off or unplug any charger or appliances we don't need and check the energy label to make sure you're buying an efficient product. The UN has set 2030 year for universal access to sustainable energy for their normal living. This day must demonstrate our commitment to efficient energy management and environmental protection. The main focus should be on the positive and sustainable practices that help reduce the use of electricity, water, and fossil fuels.

The actions like using efficient electrical technologies, use of low-consumption LED bulbs, resorting to public transport, and adopting the right to repair approach rather than replacement can save energy significantly. The planet's energy sources are increasingly exploited, leading to the depletion of natural resources. Therefore, it is important to use electrical energy nationally, opt for renewable energies, and raise awareness.

Snow Leopards - Ghosts of the Mountains

There are an estimated 3,920 to 6,590 snow leopards (Panthera Uncia) left in the world, but the exact numbers are difficult to determine. China has the most snow leopard population, with an estimated 2,000 to 2,500 individuals, followed by Mangolia, the second-largest population. These two countries are home for a significant population, which is also found across 12 countries (India, Russia, Afghanistan, Pakistan, Bhutan etc) in small numbers.

International Day of the Snow Leopard:

The "International Union of Conservation of Nature (IUCN) lists the species as "Vulnerable", having downgraded from "Endangered" in 2017 after a population assessment revision. The UN General Assembly stressed the urgent need to address the unprecedented global decline in biodiversity, and accordingly recommended to observe "International Day of the Snow Leopard" annually on 23 October to enhance international and regional cooperation in support of efforts to conserve the snow leopard, given its role in the overall ecosystem.

Reasons for Less Population:

The main reasons cited its thin and gradually decreasing population are due to threats such as climate change, poaching, declines in natural prey species,, retaliatory killings resulting from human-wildlife conflict, and habitat loss. The snow leopard poaching is done illegally for their fur and global population. The habitat loss and fragmentation due to human activities like livestock herding, and abnormal climate change, which is shrinking their habitat in high-altitude areas.

Interesting Facts About Snow Leopards:

Snow leopards are well adapted to their cold environment, and their main prey are blue sheeps, ibex, Himalayan tahr, marmot, pika, hares, small rodents and game birds. They can't roar, live in high-altitude mountainous terrain, and looks more like tigers rather than leopards. Their paws act as natural snowshoes, and can cover large distance (25 miles) marathons in one night. Snow leopards are really well camouflaged and are high jump champions. They can jump nearly 30 feet, six times their body length.

Snow leopards lifespan in the wild is up to 18 years. It's our duty to conserve this rare, smart snow leopard species by improving and sustaining their conservation status and restoring and safeguarding ecosystems that provide essential functions and services, including services like water, health, livelihoods and well-being.

With the arrival of government offices, Salar Thanda lands gain wings!

9 acres of land allocated for the construction of a new district court.. Hopes for booming real estate

Mahabubabad: The land prices that once ruled the real estate sector in the district.. then fell sharply due to the market crash, are they now on the path to rebounding? There is a discussion that the decisions regarding the construction of government offices are giving a new impetus to the land prices in some areas of Mahabubabad. Especially the area around Salar Thanda is now becoming a special attraction in the real estate circles.

9 acres of land for the new district court

In Mahabubabad, it is reported that about nine acres of land have been allocated and boundaries have been set for the construction of a new district court, Public Prosecutor (PP) office buildings and other judicial buildings in Salar Thanda. The land seems to be behind the RC Convention Apartment, next to Sannidhi Venture. Similarly, it is being reported that a decision has been taken to allocate land for the construction of a new sub-registrar's office in the area behind Salar Thanda near the court.

If the construction of these government offices is completed, the area around Salar Thanda is likely to become a center for key government and legal activities in the future. With this, locals, land owners and real estate traders are showing interest in the possibilities of increasing roads, transport facilities and commercial activities in this area.

Once upon a time, Rs. 3 crores for three acres!

In the past, when the real estate business was booming in Mahabubabad district, land prices increased drastically. At that time, there were instances when prices in the crores of rupees were quoted per acre due to the huge demand for land in the surrounding areas of the city. Real estate sources say that prices of up to Rs. 3 crores were quoted for three acres of land.

However, over time, the real estate sector has experienced severe fluctuations due to developments such as a decrease in purchases in the market, slowing investments and a halt in land sales. Even lands that were once highly priced have lost value due to lack of buyers. Business sources say that land prices, which were quoted at up to Rs 3 crore for three acres, have fallen to Rs 1 crore in some cases.

Hopes of real estate traders dashed

Hundreds of people used to earn their living in the real estate sector through buying and selling, plot sales and brokerage. As land purchases and sales increased, many chose this sector as their main source of livelihood. There were also opinions that the importance of traders in determining prices increased as the market expanded rapidly.

But the situation changed when the market suddenly slowed down. As plot sales decreased and buyers backed down, many who depended on real estate had to turn to alternative sources of employment. Some in the sector complain that they have been forced to make a living by doing small jobs.

Discussion on government offices in the vicinity of the collectorate

The publicity that decisions are being made regarding the construction of government offices in the area behind the collectorate in Mahabubabad is also having an impact on the land market. If government offices are established in one place, the importance of that area will increase and the traffic of people will increase. This is expected to increase commercial activities and create demand for residential areas in the surrounding areas.

Factors such as the construction of government offices, road facilities, and future urban expansion are likely to boost the real estate sector. In this context, it seems that land owners and plot buyers are paying special attention to the areas surrounding Salar Thanda.

Will land prices rise again?

While the lands that once commanded huge prices decreased with the market crash, now there are hopes in real estate circles that prices will increase again with the developments related to the establishment of government offices.

However, the future of the market depends on factors such as the completion of government buildings, development of infrastructure, and increase in actual purchases.

Although the construction of government offices is likely to contribute to the development of the surrounding areas, it cannot be determined in advance that land prices will increase based on advertisements or campaigns. Clarity will come only after examining the official orders of allotments, land boundaries, and the progress of construction work.

Overall, the construction of government offices is giving new hope to the land market of Mahabubabad, which was severely hit by the real estate crash in the past. It remains to be seen what impact the development of the area around Salar Thanda will have on the value of land and the demand for plots there.

Telugu Directors, Think Twice!

Telugu cinema has many talented directors. However some directors seem to depend more on star heroes, budget and sequels than on fresh stories. A big hero or a huge budget cannot guarantee success. A good story and the way it is presented are more important.

Also, the sequel trend is growing in Tollywood. When a film fails at the box office the director must decide what to do next. Should the next film have a new story or should it continue a successful film from the past? Many directors choose sequels because the first part has already created interest among audiences.

Director Ajay Bhupathi is a good example of this trend. He became popular with films like RX 100 and Mangalavaaram.

Both movies helped him gain recognition for choosing different stories. Mangalavaaram attracted audiences with its unusual subject. The film also made viewers curious about its next part. Work on Mangalavaaram 2 is now underway. However his recent film Srinivasa Mangapuram did not meet audience expectations. The film stars Jayakrishna Ghattamaneni.

Its result has now brought more attention to Mangalavaaram 2. The sequel was announced before the release of Srinivasa Mangapuram. It was not planned only after the recent film failed to impress audiences. Still this situation has started a discussion about the growing dependence on sequels in Tollywood.

A sequel has some advantages. The first part may already have a strong fan base. This can create interest even before the new film reaches theatres. Producers may also find it easier to attract business because audiences already know the film and its characters. But a successful first part does not guarantee another hit. The sequel must have a strong story and offer something new. Simply using familiar characters and the popularity of the first film may not be enough to satisfy audiences.

Yash's Fierce Ravana Avatar in 'Ramayana'

Ranbir Kapoor, Sai Pallavi and Yash are playing Lord Ram, Sita and Ravana characters, respectively, in the upcoming epic retelling of Ramayana. The movie song, trailer and promotional material have been consistently raising anticipation to watch the film on big screens from this Diwali, 5th November.

On the occasion of Dasara, the makers have unveiled Ravana Tandavam single.The musical sequence captures the massive scale and intense devotion of the character as he performs the Shiva Tandav. Yash steps into this iconic mythological role with a larger-than-life physicality that adds immense impact to the epic narrative. He is at his fierce and menacing best in each frame.

Director Nitesh Tiwari has captured Ravanna's intense devotion, rise above the Gods to become most feared King of Asuras, in an incredible visual palette.

AR Rahman has composed the song with Rudra Veena as main base making it a stunning and spectacular piece of cinematic excellence that must be experienced in theatres. Devi Sri Prasad's vocals make it even epic to listen. The movie advance bookings have opened across India, on 20th October and the response is stunning. Tickets at major centres have been already sold out. Dil Raju's SVC is releasing the film in Telugu States and it is produced on a massive scale by Namit Malhotra, DNEG and Yash.

Star Heroes Never Care About Small Films?

The release dates of big star movies are creating problems for small films in Tollywood. Small movie makers are facing difficulties because of the sudden changes in release plans. They announce their dates early and plan their promotions based on those dates. But when a big movie changes its release date it creates new problems for them. Venkatesh's upcoming film Aadarsha Kutumbam is now facing attention because of its possible new release date. The film was expected to release earlier but it was postponed. Now October 30 is being discussed as its possible release date. However the makers have not officially confirmed the date yet. The film stars Venkatesh and is directed by Trivikram Srinivas. The release of the second song called Maala has increased expectations that the movie may arrive in theatres on October 30. But this possible change has created tension for two small films. Itlu Arjuna and Cult have already announced October 30 as their release date. Their makers planned everything based on the earlier release schedule of Aadarsha Kutumbam. The Venkatesh film was originally expected to arrive on October 2.

The teams of these two films planned their releases carefully. They wanted to give the Dasara releases enough time in theatres. They also wanted to release their films before the Diwali movie rush began. Now the possible arrival of Aadarsha Kutumbam on the same date could affect their chances at the box office. Big star films usually get more screens and attention from audiences. This can make it difficult for small films to get enough theatres and attract viewers. The team is also continuing its promotional activities. Meanwhile the makers of Itlu Arjuna may wait for an official announcement before deciding what to do next. This situation once again raises questions about release planning in Tollywood. Small films work with limited budgets and depend heavily on proper release schedules. When big films change their dates at the last minute it can lead to financial problems for smaller productions. Big movie makers should plan their releases carefully and announce confirmed dates early. They should also understand how their decisions can affect other films. A little planning and coordination can help both big and small movies get a fair chance in theatres.

Mahesh Babu Turns Lover Boy Again For Varanasi

There are huge expectations on Varanasi which brings together superstar Mahesh Babu and director SS Rajamouli. This is one of the most awaited films in Indian cinema.

Fans are excited to see Mahesh Babu in a new role under Rajamouli's direction. Mahesh Babu started his career with a charming image and was once known as a prince among Telugu audiences.

He later impressed fans with mass action films and became one of the biggest stars in Telugu cinema.

Now he is working with Rajamouli on a pan-India project that has created huge excitement.

Recently Rajamouli shared an interesting update about Varanasi during an event in Brazil. His comments about the story have increased curiosity among movie lovers. The director revealed that the film has around ten days of shooting left. Rajamouli also explained the genre of the movie. Although the film may look like a science fiction project from the outside it is actually a fantasy film with mythological elements. This statement has created fresh interest in the film's story. The most exciting part of Rajamouli's revelation is that Varanasi will feature a beautiful love story between a young man and a young woman. The film will also show the emotional bond between a father and his son. These elements suggest that the movie will offer more than action and adventure. Mahesh Babu is known for his stylish screen presence and strong performances.

Fans are now wondering how Rajamouli will present him in a romantic role. Many viewers want to see Mahesh Babu in a full-length love story again. His combination with Rajamouli has made these expectations even bigger. That film impressed audiences with its emotional love story and grand visual presentation. Fans are now curious to know whether Varanasi will also present love in a grand and different way. However the makers have not revealed the complete story yet. The film's mythological background and fantasy elements have added more mystery to the project.

All Eyes on 'Aakashamlo Oka Taara'

Dulquer Salmaan has technically become a Telugu star, and all his films are gaining traction in Telugu. The star actor is working on an interesting film titled Aakasam lo Oka Taara. The team is happy with how the film is progressing in post-production, and the recently released teaser has caught a lot of attention. Especially amid a lineup of action films at the box office, audiences are craving a feel-good, light-hearted entertainer. Aakasam lo Oka Taara can be that film.

Audiences are tired of the back-to-back action-oriented films at the box office. Viewers are unhappy with violence crossing all the lines on screen. What audiences need is a simple, sweet, grounded film that resonates on all levels. In this scenario, Aakasam lo Oka Taara can satisfy that hunger and give audiences a memorable film this winter season. According to film sources, streaming giant Netflix grabbed the digital streaming rights for the film for a whopping amount. Since Dulquer's previous films fared well at the box office, they seem to have offered quite a good amount, with which the team almost got back their investment. As of today, the film is breaking even, and any magic after release will turn it into a big profit. Savtika Veeravalli makes her debut as a lead heroine with the film. Gunnam Gangaraju and Vasanth Jurru wrote the screenplay. Sandeep Gurram and Ramya Gurram are producing the film. The film will head for a grand release on November 20th.
