The state government is preparing department-wise contingency plans to safeguard drinking water, irrigation, power supply and agriculture.

TG prepares strong technical case for Tummidihetti talks

Hyderabad, Oct 23: Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy has directed state irrigation officials to prepare comprehensive technical documentation ahead of high-stakes inter-state talks with Maharashtra regarding the proposed Tummidihetti barrage. Speaking at a high-level review meeting at Bodhi Pavilion on Friday, the Chief Minister noted that Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis had expressed readiness to convene talks after Oct. 23. Reddy stressed that Telangana must present an ironclad technical case to justify its water requirements.

The proposed barrage on the Pranahita River is aimed at providing irrigation to 2 lakh acres in the undivided Adilabad district—a socio-economically backward region with a substantial tribal population. A central point of negotiation involves the height of the barrage. While Maharashtra previously agreed to a height of 148 meters, Telangana officials maintain that a structure at that level cannot divert the necessary volume of water to the Yellampalli reservoir.

Engineers presented modeling for two alternate heights: a 152-meter barrage, which would submerge approximately 2,300 acres in Maharashtra without submerging any villages, and a 150-meter barrage, which would limit land submergence to under 1,000 acres. Revanth Reddy instructed engineers to compile data on water availability, land submergence, and historic Central Water Commission (CWC) proceedings to persuade Maharashtra to support the 152-meter design.

He also directed officials to finalise canal route designs between Tummidihetti and Yellampalli and prepare for land acquisition once the height is fixed.

Separately, the Chief Minister reviewed the Dindi and Achampet lift irrigation schemes. He directed officials to plan for drawing 0.6 TMC of water from the Srisailam reservoir via the Yedula reservoir—allocating 0.5 TMC to Dindi and 0.1 TMC to Achampet—without compromising allocations for the Palamuru-Rangareddy project.

Engineers were instructed to immediately launch feasibility studies for dedicated pump systems, tunnels, and canal capacity expansions.

The meeting was attended by Deputy Chief Minister Bhatti Vikramarka, Irrigation Minister N. Uttam Kumar Reddy, Cabinet Ministers Jupally Krishna Rao and Duddilla Sridhar Babu, Rajya Sabha MP Vem Narender Reddy, and senior irrigation engineers.

Hyderabad, Oct 23: Irrigation and Civil Supplies Minister Capt. N. Uttam Kumar Reddy on Friday called for comprehensive drought preparedness across state and district administration levels to mitigate the impact of emerging El Niño conditions. Speaking at the Secretariat during the inaugural meeting of the Cabinet Sub-Committee on Drought, Uttam Kumar Reddy stressed the need for advance planning, adequate funding for district collectors, and seamless inter-departmental coordination to safeguard water supplies and protect standing crops.

The high-level meeting was chaired by Deputy Chief Minister Mallu Bhatti Vikramarka and attended by Agriculture Minister Thummala Nageswara Rao, Revenue Minister Ponguleti Srinivas Reddy, Panchayat Raj Minister Seethakka, and Minister Vakiti Srihari, alongside Chief Secretary Sanjay Jaju.

"District collectors and departmental officials must anticipate local challenges and implement preventive measures rather than adopting a reactive approach," Uttam Kumar Reddy said.

He directed officials to formulate district-specific action plans to map vulnerable zones, evaluate potential water shortages, and establish contingency protocols to ensure uninterrupted drinking water and timely relief.

Shabbir Ali slams Modi for personal attack on Rahul Gandhi

Hyderabad, Oct 23: Telangana Government Advisor (SC, ST, OBCs & Minorities) Mohammed Ali Shabbir on Friday strongly condemned Prime Minister Narendra Modi's remark calling Leader of the Opposition Rahul Gandhi a "failed product," stating that a "failed Prime Minister" holds no moral authority to criticize someone fighting for democratic and voting rights. Reacting to comments made by Modi at a media summit, Shabbir Ali accused the Prime Minister of relying on personal attacks against Rahul Gandhi and the Nehru-Gandhi family to deflect from critical governance issues, including unemployment, economic distress, and electoral integrity. "Rahul Gandhi is among the people, demanding accountability and raising questions about voting rights. A Prime Minister who consistently avoids these questions has no right to label the Leader of the Opposition a 'failed product'," Shabbir Ali said in a statement.

He further alleged that personal attacks have become the Prime Minister's standard response to legitimate questions raised by the Opposition. Whenever Rahul Gandhi addresses inflation, electoral manipulation, cronyism, or institutional independence, Modi targets Jawaharlal Nehru and the Gandhi family instead, Shabbir Ali added.

"Rather than answering today's pressing questions, Modi attacks those who served the nation or sacrificed their lives for it," he said.

Ladakh Body Accuses Wangchuk of Hijacking Talks Agenda

The Civil Society Forum of Ladakh has accused activist Sonam Wangchuk of hijacking the original agenda of land, job and cultural safeguards in the ongoing dialogue with the Centre, and claimed that the Leh Apex Body (LAB) and the Kargil Democratic Alliance (KDA) no longer represent the voices of all districts.

The Forum met in Leh and expressed deep concern over delays in the talks between the Union Home Ministry (MHA), the LAB and the KDA. It alleged a deviation from the original agenda of safeguarding Ladakh's land, jobs and culture, and criticised what it called the confrontational attitude of some members during the negotiations. The meeting, held recently, was attended by former MP Thupstan Chhewang, former Chief Executive Councillor Rigzen Spalbar and former MLC Tsering Samphel. Representatives of Thiksey and Thuksey Rinpoche, monks from various monasteries, members of the Ladakh Buddhist Association, nambardars, retired officers and other civil society members also took part.

Chhewang alleged that the LAB and KDA leaders rejected MHA's draft proposal without adequately examining the options, and misrepresented the outcomes of earlier meetings, creating public confusion. He also blamed repeated delays, misinformation and disregard for earlier consensus for 'non-holding' of the MHA meeting scheduled for October 22 in New Delhi. He expressed concern over the adverse implications of this for Leh, particularly the Buddhist community. The Forum said that the dialogue process should not be held hostage to delaying tactics and confrontational politics. It demanded early Panchayat and Ladakh Autonomous Hill Development Council (LAHDC) elections across all districts, along with enhanced powers for elected councils. It also called for reconstitution of the LAB with democratically elected representatives from all districts. Appealing for the dialogue to continue, the Forum said that, as per the ground reality, the LAB and the KDA could no longer claim to speak for the whole of Ladakh.

CM Revanth calls for unified southern security grid to curb crime

Hyderabad, Oct 23 : Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy on Friday called for stronger inter-state cooperation among Southern states to combat emerging criminal threats, offering to share Telangana's technological infrastructure to build a unified regional security framework.

Inaugurating the Southern Regional Police Coordination Committee meeting at the Integrated Command and Control Centre (ICCC) in Hyderabad, Revanth Reddy emphasised that isolated law enforcement efforts are insufficient against modern security challenges. He urged participating delegates to formulate a comprehensive cross-border action plan aimed at driving down crime rates across South India.

Highlighting state-level law enforcement reforms, the Chief Minister pointed to specialized units such as HYDRAA, EAGLE, and TG-SAFE, alongside dedicated cybercrime and narcotics divisions.

He noted that Telangana ranked first nationally in cybercrime performance during the Union government's recent PRAGATI review, while the state's EAGLE force scored above 80 percent in central performance evaluations for anti-narcotics operations. Revanth Reddy also highlighted structural initiatives, including the establishment of TG-SAFE—modeled on the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to tackle food adulteration and drug enforcement—and the induction of transgender individuals as Traffic Assistants in Hyderabad, a first for the country.

Reiterating his administration's policy on law enforcement funding, Revanth Reddy stressed that budget allocations for policing should be viewed as long-term investments in public safety and societal stability rather than mere state expenditure.

Kharge's 3 Questions to Centre on China; Seeks PM's Clarity

Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge has sharply questioned the Union government over its handling of relations with China, demanding that Prime Minister Narendra Modi take Parliament and the nation into confidence rather than targeting the Opposition.

In a strongly worded post on his X handle, the Congress chief declared, "Enough clean chits to China. PM Modi must come clean before India!" and posed three pointed questions covering national security, economic security and diplomatic accountability. On the issue of national security, Kharge expressed deep alarm over the confirmation by the Director General of the Indo-Tibetan Border Police of continuing face-offs with the People's Liberation Army in Arunachal Pradesh.

Recalling the earlier confrontations at Doklam and Galwan, he asked whether another serious confrontation was unfolding. He referred to reports of Chinese incursions near Taksing that emerged in August and noted that even 47 days after Corps Commander-level talks held at Wacha–Damai, reportedly just 180 kilometres away, the confrontations had not ceased. Kharge questioned whether India's patrolling access had been compromised and stressed that Arunachal Pradesh remains an inseparable part of India. He asked why the nation was being kept in the dark on such a critical matter.

Turning to economic security, the Congress president highlighted that since the Galwan clash in which 20 Indian Army personnel made the supreme sacrifice in FY 2020–21, Chinese imports into India have surged by 102 per cent while the bilateral trade deficit has ballooned by 155 per cent to reach 112.16 billion dollars. He pointed out that even Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman has admitted that China continues to obstruct Indian exports.

Despite this, Kharge alleged, the government is easing restrictions on Chinese investment and is considering extending Production Linked Incentive benefits to eligible China-linked ventures. He asked whether the slogan of Make in India had effectively turned into "Import from China." On diplomatic accountability, Kharge listed the extensive high-level engagements held with China, including at least 23 reported meetings and interactions between Prime Minister Modi and President Xi Jinping, 25 rounds of Special Representatives' talks involving National Security Advisor Ajit Doval, 36 meetings of the working mechanism for consultation and coordination, and successive summits of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation and BRICS.

He demanded to know what tangible results these engagements had delivered and whether India's pre-May 2020 patrolling rights along the border had been fully restored. While affirming complete confidence in the Armed Forces, Kharge asserted that national security requires genuine accountability rather than diplomatic photo opportunities and what he termed "Hugplomacy." Kharge urged the Prime Minister to stop attacking the Opposition and instead place the full facts before Parliament and the people of India.

Responding to an invitation from representatives of welfare associations of 18 colonies affected by the dumping yard in Autonagar, Mansoorabad Division, Madhu Yashki Goud visited the area on Friday. He inspected the accumulated heaps of garbage and interacted with residents to understand their problems in the presence of officials from various departments. Residents complained that hundreds of tippers and tractors were transporting construction debris and garbage to Autonagar illegally every day. They alleged that construction waste and medical waste were being dumped along roadsides and that garbage was being brought into Autonagar beyond the permitted limits, causing severe inconvenience due to the foul smell. They also expressed concern that waste generated by the Autonagar Industrial Area was accumulating in the nearby forest area, exposing residents to foul odours and health problems. They further alleged that industrial waste was being illegally discharged into stormwater drains. The residents criticised Ramky for storing garbage illegally in Autonagar instead of transporting it away on the same day. They also complained that animal carcasses were being brought to the dumping yard, causing an unbearable stench and affecting public health. During the inspection, Madhu Yashki Goud interacted with officials from the Malkajgiri Municipal Corporation, the Autonagar Industrial Area, the Pollution Control Board, Ramky, the Forest Department and the Police Department. He questioned the officials over their failure to address the problems despite residents suffering for years.

Speaking on the occasion, Madhu Yashki Goud directed Ramky to immediately remove the accumulated garbage and warned of serious action if it failed to comply. He said waste must not be stored in the open and instructed the company to keep incoming garbage in a closed shed and transport it away without delay. As previously decided, garbage should be brought only from the Hayathnagar and Nagole circles and must be transported away on the same day. He also warned against dumping animal carcasses at the Autonagar site and putting residents' health at risk.

He suggested submitting proposals to establish an animal crematorium similar to the facility at Fatullaguda and assured that he would speak to senior officials to secure the necessary funds. He also advised officials to ensure that animal carcasses were buried properly. Madhu Yashki Goud instructed police officials to seize vehicles transporting construction debris in violation of regulations and take stringent action against those responsible. He further directed the IL&FS (ILA) Commissioner, referred to as the IL Commissioner in the report, to restore the Sewage Treatment Plant (STP) serving the Autonagar Industrial Area within one month to resolve the problems faced by residents. He warned that strict action would be initiated against Ramky if the accumulated garbage was not removed immediately.

He said he would speak to Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy to ensure the complete removal of the waste transfer station in the Autonagar dumping yard area. He also urged colony residents to identify vehicles illegally dumping waste and hand them over to the authorities. The officials were instructed to install CCTV cameras, erect barricades and strengthen security at the dumping yard.

Expressing concern that illegal dumping was also damaging the nearby forest area, he called for coordinated action by all departments to resolve the residents' grievances. Stating that he would not make empty promises like previous administrations and leaders of other parties, Madhu Yashki Goud said he would work towards finding a practical solution. He urged residents to send him photographs of illegal dumping incidents regularly so that action could be taken promptly.

Charan In Need Of Two Things

Mega hero Ram Charan wants to come up with roles that will be remembered forever, but in that process, the roles are working out, but the films are not working. Whether it is Game Changer or Peddi, his performance as an actor got applauded, hailed and showered with petals, but the performance of those films at the box office became a talking point. That boils down to the point of what Charan needs in the coming days.

Especially when it comes to the box office, Charan needs to pick up some box-office-winning movies like Jailer 2 or others, which don't rely much on the story but on masala tropes that would excite the masses. Ram Charan's films are badly missing such elements at one point of time, and the whole narrative is going for a toss. So, what's the second thing he needs? Other than teaming up with directors who big stars are usually not going to at the moment, Charan needs to pick up some commercial directors who could stabilise his boat. Currently he's doing a movie with Sukumar, and then he needs to chalk out a plan to get directors like Sandeep Reddy Vanga, Prashanth Neel and other happening star directors into his arms. That's when his films will start making huge money, and also his stardom will get the right treatment. Currently, #RC17 is the only film he has signed, and fans are looking forward to seeing which other director he will pick up.
