Revanth, Fadnavis agree to panel on Tummidihatti barrage height

Hyderabad, Oct 26: In a major step toward resolving a long-standing inter-state water agreement, a high-level Telangana delegation led by Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy met Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis on Monday at the Sahyadri State Guest House in Mumbai.

During the bilateral talks, both states agreed to constitute a joint committee of senior officials to re-examine the technical, environmental, and submergence implications of increasing the proposed height of the Tummidihatti Barrage across the Pranahita River from 148 meters to 152 meters. The delegation included Telangana Irrigation Minister N. Uttam Kumar Reddy, the Chief Secretaries of both states, and senior representatives from their respective irrigation departments. Opening the talks, Irrigation Minister Uttam Kumar Reddy presented a detailed technical rationale for raising the barrage height to 152 meters. He stated that the 2016 agreement—which capped the height at 148 meters—fails to adequately supply the irrigation needs of the backward, tribal-dominated Adilabad region. Highlighting rising energy costs, power demands, climate change, and operational sustainability, the Minister emphasized that a 152-meter structure offers the most viable long-term solution by maximizing gravity-based water conveyance. Addressing downstream concerns, Minister Uttam Kumar Reddy assured that the Telangana government is fully prepared to compensate affected farmers in Maharashtra in strict alignment with Maharashtra's prevailing land acquisition and compensation benchmarks.

Chief Minister Revanth Reddy and Minister Uttam Kumar Reddy framed the project as a vital instrument for socio-economic transformation in a region historically impacted by economic neglect and social unrest. Invoking tribal icon Komaram Bheem and the historical Jal, Jangal, Zameen movement, Chief Minister Revanth Reddy noted that efforts to secure water rights for the region span over five decades, dating back to October 1975. He highlighted that the proposed barrage, combined with planned civilian and defense airport facilities in Adilabad, would act as a crucial growth engine and strengthen economic linkages between northern Telangana and adjacent border districts in Maharashtra.

"The Tummidihatti Barrage is not merely an irrigation structure; it is a catalyst for economic upliftment in one of the country's historically neglected tribal regions," Revanth Reddy said, appealing for inter-state cooperation in a spirit of mutual growth and shared brotherhood. Responding positively, Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis expressed a willingness to reconsider the height enhancement, noting his personal and regional affinity for the border area.However, Chief Minister Fadnavis underlined that technical rigor, thorough land impact assessments, and standard administrative protocols must precede any final consensus. He stated that provided the revised proposal does not adversely affect local communities in Maharashtra, his administration would support Telangana's water goals in the broader national interest. At the conclusion of the meeting, Chief Minister Revanth Reddy extended an invitation to Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis to attend the upcoming Invest Telangana Global Summit, scheduled for December 7–9 at Future City in Hyderabad. Chief Minister Fadnavis responded positively, expressing his intent to attend.

Hyderabad, Oct 26: The Congress has hit back at the BRS over its criticism of Telangana's utilisation of Godavari waters, with Bhongir MP Chamala Kiran Kumar Reddy stating that the water levels were currently insufficient to pump water through the Kaleshwaram project.

Jadcherla MLA threatens mass protest over delayed funds

Hyderabad, Oct 26: Congress MLA Anirudh Reddy, representing the Jadcherla Assembly constituency, on Monday threatened to launch an indefinite hunger strike involving 30,000 people over the alleged neglect of fund allocations for his constituency.

Addressing a media conference in Jadcherla, the ruling party legislator expressed frustration over what he described as preferential treatment in bill clearances for constituencies represented by cabinet ministers. Pointing to recent developments in neighbouring Nagarkurnool, Anirudh Reddy noted that ₹5 crore in pending bills were released following the death of a contractor. He questioned whether similar sacrifices were expected before funds would be sanctioned for his region, adding that he was ready to give up his life for the development of Jadcherla.

Emphasising that government stability relies on equitable development across all Assembly segments, Anirudh Reddy called for a bipartisan struggle to secure canal networks and irrigation water for local farmers.

Hyderabad, Oct 26: Former irrigation minister and BRS MLA T. Harish Rao on Monday challenged Telangana Irrigation Minister N. Harish Rao offered to resign his assembly seat if the government demonstrates the proposal's technical feasibility. In a counter-challenge, he demanded Uttam Kumar Reddy's resignation should gravity-based conveyance prove unviable.

BRS urges ECI to extend graduate voter registration deadline to Dec 6

Hyderabad, Oct 26: The Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS) on Monday urged the Election Commission of India (ECI) to extend the deadline for graduate voter registration in Telangana by at least a month, pointing to a massive backlog in application verifications and administrative delays. A party delegation led by BRS deputy floor leader Talasani Srinivas Yadav submitted a formal representation to Telangana Chief Electoral Officer (CEO) C. Sudarshan Reddy, calling for immediate intervention to ensure eligible voters are not disenfranchised ahead of the Mahabubnagar–Rangareddy–Hyderabad and Warangal–Khammam–Nalgonda Graduates' MLC constituency elections. In the representation addressed to the Chief Election Commissioner, the BRS requested that the current deadline of November 6 be pushed back to December 6. The party urged the deployment of Booth Level Officers (BLOs) with specific enrolment targets, alongside a statewide public awareness campaign.

According to figures cited by the BRS, out of 5.23 lakh Form 18 applications received by October 24, only 26,085 (approximately 5%) had been approved, leaving nearly 4.96 lakh applications pending verification. The party noted that the verified count represents just 2.52 per cent of the 10.36 lakh electors registered on the 2021 electoral rolls.

Addressing reporters, Srinivas Yadav criticized both the ECI and the State government for inadequate preparation, stating that BLOs were not actively engaged in the drive and that government personnel could have been deployed to expedite the process.

The three detained women will be repatriated to Uzbekistan in accordance with legal protocol. Meanwhile, police issued a stern warning to service apartment management and operators across the precinct, emphasising strict compliance with mandatory guest verification procedures and identity checks.

Harish Rao Challenges Uttam to Prove Tummidihatti's Feasibility

Harish Rao sharply criticised the Congress government's water management, alleging that operational lapses have triggered an artificial agricultural crisis across the state.

Pointing to regional disparities in crop management, he noted that despite facing a greater rainfall deficit than Telangana, neighbouring Andhra Pradesh has avoided declaring a crop holiday. "Had the pumps at Devadula been operated, Warangal district would not have faced drought," Harish Rao said. "Despite available water storage at Srisailam, lifting operations were stalled."

He further alleged that only two of the five motors at the Kalwakurthy Lift Irrigation Project were currently operational, running for just two hours daily.

The former minister called for an official white paper detailing pump operations at the Devadula and Kalwakurthy projects, alongside a comparative report on drawals from Srisailam by Andhra Pradesh and Telangana.

Addressing Chief Minister Revanth Reddy's visit to Maharashtra, Harish Rao contrasted the timeline with the previous administration, stating that the BRS government initiated interstate water discussions within 42 days of taking office in 2014, whereas the current leadership delayed engagement for nearly three years.

the State's interests. Lashing out at BRS leaders, he accused them of damaging Telangana's interests during their decade in power and subsequently spreading misinformation about the utilisation of Godavari waters. He said the State was utilising Godavari water through the Devadula and Sitarama lift irrigation schemes. The MP also criticised BRS working president KT Rama Rao and senior leader Harish Rao, accusing them of ignoring facts and resorting to political criticism. Referring to the challenges posed by the El Niño phenomenon, Chamala Kiran Kumar Reddy said the State government was on alert to tackle its possible impact. He urged all political parties to attend the all-party meeting scheduled for October 28 under the leadership of Deputy Chief Minister Bhatti Vikramarka and offer constructive suggestions.

NRR slams Kharge over remarks against PM's family

Hyderabad, Oct 26 : Telangana BJP president N. Ramchander Rao on Monday strongly condemned the alleged derogatory remarks made by Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge against the family of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, accusing Congress leaders of resorting to abusive language out of frustration and desperation after failing to convince voters through what he termed false propaganda.

Addressing a press conference at the BJP state office here, Ramchander Rao said it was deplorable for a senior leader like Kharge to make insulting remarks targeting the Prime Minister's father at a rally in Patna.

He alleged that Congress leaders were unable to digest the rise of an ordinary chaiwala to the country's highest political office and were desperate to regain power after being out of office for 12-and-a-half years. In their pursuit of power, they were abandoning basic moral values, he charged.

On the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls, the BJP state chief accused Congress leaders of continuing to spread misinformation even though the process had reached its final stage. He alleged that, anticipating electoral defeat, the Congress was using the SIR exercise as a pretext to target the BJP. In protest against what he described as the Congress's arrogant attitude, Rao announced that effigies of the Congress party would be burnt in Hyderabad and at all district headquarters across Telangana.

Rejecting allegations of irregularities in the SIR process, Rao challenged Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy to identify instances of eligible voters being unfairly deleted from the electoral rolls in the Chief Minister's native village of Kondareddypally. "I will come to your native village, Kondareddypally. Give me a time, and I will come there. Show me where the votes of eligible voters have been unfairly deleted in your village," he said, adding that ministers who had challenged him earlier had failed to follow through after he accepted their challenge. Rao asserted that every eligible citizen had a constitutional right to vote and maintained that no eligible voter's name was being illegally deleted.

Reacting to Revanth Reddy's announcement that Congress leaders would hold a rally at Ramlila Maidan in New Delhi on November 1 over the SIR issue, the BJP state president criticised the Chief Minister, likening his attitude to "Nero fiddling while Rome burns."

Ramchander Rao expressed concern over the state's drought-like conditions and drinking water crisis, alleging that the Chief Minister was planning to visit Delhi while Telangana was grappling with these pressing issues.

YSRCP MP Seeks Probe into SEC's Poll Failures

YSRCP MP writes to President, seeks enquiry into SEC 'failures' during local body elections in Andhra Tirupati, Oct 26 : YSR Congress Party MP, Dr. Maddila Gurumoorthy, has written to President of India Droupadi Murmu and Governor S. Abdul Nazeer, seeking an independent enquiry into the 'failures' of the State Election Commission (SEC) during the ongoing municipal, MPTC and ZPTC elections in Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu-ruled Andhra Pradesh. In his representation, the MP from Tirupati raised serious concerns over alleged violence, intimidation, attacks on Opposition candidates, destruction of nomination papers, police interference and the failure of election authorities to ensure free and fair participation. He cited incidents in Punganur, Pulivendula, Kadapa, Proddatur, Mydukur, Badvel, Rayachoti, Tirupati and other places.

He referred to the attack on Rajampet MP P.V. Midhun Reddy, burning of vehicles, house arrests of Opposition leaders and obstruction of candidates attempting to file nominations.

Gurumoorthy pointed out that the Supreme Court had directed the SEC to examine complaints and provide protection. However, nomination extensions were granted only in four Urban Local Bodies, leaving several affected municipalities without similar relief.

He highlighted reports that 222 wards across seven municipalities recorded no YSRCP nominations because candidates were allegedly prevented from filing them. He also cited complaints that 1,345 MPTC and ZPTC candidates faced obstruction during nominations.

The MP requested the President and Governor for an independent examination of the SEC's conduct, including its response to complaints, police deployment, nomination irregularities and compliance with Supreme Court directions.

He demanded preservation of CCTV footage, nomination records, police reports and electronic evidence.

He also sought central security forces, fresh nomination opportunities for affected candidates and independent judicial oversight.

Gurumoorthy urged the President and Governor to consider appropriate constitutional action against officials, including the State Election Commissioner, if misconduct or serious failures are established through an impartial enquiry.

Rajnath Slams Kharge Over PM Remark, Urges Restraint

New Delhi, Oct 26 : Union Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Monday strongly criticised Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge over his controversial remarks about Prime Minister Narendra Modi's father, advising him not to cross boundaries of personal decorum.

In a statement, Singh said Kharge's remark in Patna had left him stunned and deeply hurt, expressing concern that the comment had come from the national president of a party that describes itself as the country's oldest political organisation. "The remark made yesterday in Patna by Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge against Prime Minister Modi's late father has left me stunned and deeply hurt," Singh said. "What is most shocking in this entire episode is that this statement did not come from an ordinary Congress worker or a young leader, but from the National President of the party that calls itself the country's oldest political party," he added. Singh said Kharge's conduct had hurt the sentiments of millions of people across the country. "Through his conduct, the Congress President has hurt the sentiments of millions of countrymen. But Congress leaders did not stop there; now, the Congress party is trying to justify Kharge ji's words, further hurting public sentiments," he said.

"Instead of accepting their mistake and expressing regret, Congress is busy attempting to defend and validate this statement. Kharge is at a very senior post; it doesn't suit him," Singh added. In further criticism, the Defence Minister said political disagreements should not descend into personal attacks or involve the families of political leaders."Turning ideological opposition into personal insults, dragging political disagreement down to crude language, and targeting the Prime Minister's family reflects Congress' frustration and ideological bankruptcy," Singh said.

He described the controversy as an attack on the dignity of Indian politics, stressing that democratic opposition must remain within the boundaries of personal decorum.

"I believe this is not just an insult to an individual or a family, but an attack on the dignity of Indian politics itself.

Instrument of Accession Signed by Maharaja Hari Singh

The Maharaja Hari Singh of Jammu - Kashmir princely state signed the historic Instrument of Accession, a legal document that ceded J & K to the Dominion of India on 26 October 1947. During Indian Independence from British colonial rulers, India was headed towards a 'two nation' split, a horrible pain experienced by common public of both sides viz., India and Pakistan. During that short period around 570 princely states across India's length and breadth were given option to choose to merge with India or Pak. By 15 Aug 1947 over 560 states joined India leaving Jammu-Kashmir, Hyderabad and Junagadh didn't join either side. Maharaja Hari Singh signed a standstill agreement with Pak but there was no agreement with India. The J & K Accession Day was observed on 26 October as Accession Day involving rallies, cultural activities, bursting fire crackers, singing national anthem by foisting national flag.

Instrument of Accession Signed by Hari Singh:

In October 1947, the Pakistani Pashtun tribes invaded Kashmir to take it by force resulting in the law and order problem in the state. On October 26, 1947 more than 11,000 people from Baramulla region were killed by invaders. Then Hari Singh came down and approached the then Indian Government's intervention to stop the atrocities of invaders. Indian government told Hari Singh to merge in India so that they can attack invaders. On 26 October 1947, the Instrument of Accession was signed by Hari Singh and attacked the invaders within two weeks. From that day onwards J & K has become an integral part of India. The Instrument of Accession was refused by Pakistan and started war like situation. This issue was raised in UN in 1948 on the advice of Lord Mountbatten. A ceasefire agreement was accepted both sides on 01 Jan 1949 with Line of Control decided. 2/3rd of state was under India whereas 1/3rd was with Pakistan in the areas of Gilgit and Baltistan were accupied by them.

Now J & K is UT:

J & K is now a UT of India revoked the special status granted to the state under 370 Articles. Even now the Pakistani government, militants raise slogans in favour of their beliefs towards J & K. Since muslim domination is more in J & K, the word of advice by Hari Singh was rejected by Pak army and the same Kashmir issue was raised by Pakistan time and again. Now the Kashmir being an Indian UT, is facing tremendous militant operations, Pakistani army unnecessary involvements to destabilise India to the extent possible, but they were ably answered by Indian defence forces time and again.

Let the Jammu - Kashmir be the beautiful blob on the forehead of Mother India for ever.

Farmers are waiting for the storm rains!

Will it bring relief from the scorching heat of the cyclone? If it rains, the crops will be saved!

Mahabubabad District Telangana Essence October 26 : On one hand, the intensity of the sun.. On the other hand, people are suffocating due to the heat wave.. On the other hand, farmers are worried about the condition of the crops! At such a time, the Meteorological Department's predictions that the weather system formed in the Bay of Bengal is likely to strengthen and turn into a cyclone are raising new hopes among farmers. Will the rains in the coming days bring life to their crops? Will they even cover the cultivation expenses? Farmers are looking to the sky with the hope that.

Rain is the livelihood of farmers!

The Meteorological Department has revealed that the low pressure formed in the Bay of Bengal is strengthening in the context of the rise in temperatures due to the effect of El Nino and the hardships faced by people due to the heat wave. This system is likely to turn into a cyclone by October 26, and is expected to approach the Andhra Pradesh coast around October 28. Due to its impact, it is expected that rains are likely to occur in several districts of Telangana as well. If rains fall, especially in Mahabubabad, Mulugu, Bhadradri Kothagu dem, Khammam, Warangal, Hanumakonda and other districts, the agricultural sector is likely to get some relief. However, clarity on the amount, extent and intensity of rains will be known only with the latest forecasts from the Meteorological Department.

If it rains, the hopes of crores will come to life!

In rural areas where agriculture is the main source of livelihood, all the hopes of farmers are focused on rains.

Farmers who have already invested and cultivated crops need favorable weather. If rain falls at the right time, it will not only benefit the crops but also increase the water reserves in groundwater, ponds and ponds. This may also benefit the upcoming cultivation. If the rains fall due to the cyclone and favorable conditions are created for the crops, it is expected that the investments made by the farmers will not be wasted and at least some of the expected results will be achieved. Since the future of crops worth crores of rupees in the agricultural sector depends on the weather conditions, every drop has become valuable for the farmers.

Hope and anxiety!

Although the farmers are eagerly waiting for the rains, there is also a risk of damage to the crops if the intensity of the cyclone increases and very heavy rains and gusty winds occur. Problems such as water stagnation in the fields, crops rotting on the ground, and crops ready for harvest are damaged. That is why, on the one hand, there is joy among the farmers that the rains will fall, and on the other hand, there is concern that the cyclone will cause damage.

The eyes of the farmers are towards the sky!

There are situations that are proving once again that agriculture can run smoothly only when nature is favorable.

Will the impact of the cyclone benefit the farmers? Or will it create problems? It will be known in the coming days. For now, farmers are eagerly waiting for rain. Farmers are expressing hope that if the rains are merciful and provide timely rains, it will bring life to the crops and improve the chances of farmers reaping the fruits of their labor.

Should I leave Mahabubabad and campaign in Chennai?

There is a debate in Congress circles about campaigning in other places when the focus should be on local politics!

Mahabubabad District Telangana Essence October 26 : An interesting debate is going on in political circles about the Chennai campaign of Mahabubabad MP Balaram Nayak. The area of Mahabubabad Parliament constituency, public issues and political conditions are unique. In this constituency, which extends from rural areas to cities, it is the main responsibility of the public representatives to be accessible to the people and work to solve local problems. However, leaving such a vast constituency and participating in election campaigns in other places is now leading to political debate.

There are differences of opinion in political circles about Mahabubabad MP Balaram Nayak participating in campaign programs in Chennai. On the one hand, there is a need to focus on local public issues, development works and party programs, while on the other hand, questions are being raised about how reasonable it is to take up campaign responsibilities in other places.

What about local responsibilities?

Many issues related to the people in the Mahabubabad Parliament constituency are waiting to be resolved. Continuous monitoring of public representatives is required on issues such as infrastructure in rural areas, drinking water, roads, farmers' problems, and employment opportunities for unemployed youth. In such a situation, it is natural for local discussions to take place on the participation of MPs in campaign programs in other areas.

Dissatisfaction in Congress circles?

There is a discussion in political circles that some Congress leaders are unable to digest the fact that MPs are participating in the campaign in Chennai. It seems that some people are asking questions like, is it necessary to campaign in other areas when they should be focusing more on the political developments and local issues in their constituency? However, an official response from the relevant leaders is yet to be issued on this dissatisfaction.

Is it the party's responsibility? Is it a local priority as a public representative?

Campaigning in other areas as per the party's instructions is common in politics. It is also part of the responsibility of leaders to contribute to the success of party candidates. At the same time, it is equally important for public representatives to care about the problems of the people of their constituency and to be available. How these two responsibilities are being coordinated is now a matter of debate.

In short, it remains to be seen what political consequences the ongoing debate over the Mahabubabad MP Chennai campaign will lead to. Is it possible to participate in party programs while giving priority to the problems of the local people? What are the views of local Congress leaders? Issues such as clarity are yet to be clarified.

Sai Pallavi's 'Brain' Remark Hits Back at Critics

Very talented and beautiful actress Sai Pallavi is now coming up with the movie "Ramayana" where she will be seen portraying the role of Goddess Sita. On that note, the actress is extensively promoting the film everywhere and speaking great about the character, the story and the movie overall. And recently stated that she hasn't used her brain to play this role. There is a section of society that's aghast ever since Sai Pallavi was announced as the contender to play Maa Sita on the silver screen.

Some stated that she has anti-Hindu society views and asked why she is even roped in for the same.

However, recently, Sai Pallavi stated that she didn't even use her brain while playing Sita because she has no input to give.

"I just wanted to see what I could take from this sacred role", and that explains her respect towards the Ramayana and the culture, after all.

Speaking on Kaun Banega Crorepati hot seat, the actress made this comment, and that shows her commitment to play the character rather than interrupting with the story design as she does with other scripts. Already Sai Pallavi faced a wave of criticism from the North audience after the first look of the film arrived, as they commented that the girls who played maid roles looked better than her role in the movie. Hope she silences all with her acting prowess after the film releases. Ramayana is hitting cinemas on November 6th.

'Scene' makers release glimpse video of Suriya's character DSP Inbaraj

The makers of director Jithu Madhavan's eagerly awaited film 'Scene', featuring actor Suriya in the lead, on Monday released a glimpse video of DSP Inbaraj, the character Suriya plays in the film. Taking to his X timeline to share the 'Glimpse of DSP Inbaraj' video, Suriya wrote, "Hello Dear All, With love, DSP Inbaraj." The film is to hit screens worldwide on November 6 for Deepavali this year. The glimpse video shows DSP Inbaraj (Suriya) arriving at a crime scene. He is greeted by a constable called Sibi. Inbaraj exchanges pleasantries with Sibi, who is confused whether to address Inbaraj as "sir" or "anna" (elder brother). Eventually, Inbaraj advises him to stick to "sir". As they make their way through a crowd gathered outside the crime scene, Inbaraj disciplines them by asking them to maintain "one-arm distance".

He asks Sibi why he has got a crowd gathered during COVID. When a worried Sibi offers to get the crowd dispersed, Inbaraj stops him from doing so saying, only when there are crowds, it will be fun to watch reels.

He asks Sibi to get those shooting videos on their phones to shoot the videos in a vertical fashion. Another sequence shows Inbaraj advising someone not to smoke, warning them that if they smoked, it could affect their fertility.

However, the glimpse video shows Inbaraj himself smoking a cigarette." The glimpse video makes it evident that Suriya plays a street smart policeman, who is significantly different from the conventional cops. Already, the makers have revealed that Naslen plays the antagonist in the film. He plays a character called Eeswaran.

The video that the makers released to showcase Naslen's character made it evident that he plays a "faceless, emotionless, inhuman predator" in the film. In one scene, Eeswaran is seen telling someone,"Don't be scared. I won't kill you. Get the vehicle started." For the unaware, Scene went on floors with a traditional pooja in the city in December last year.

The film, which is being produced by Zhagaram Studios, was being tenatively referred to as Suriya 47 until now. The film has been one of the most anticipated projects of the year, with fans and audiences showing immense curiosity and excitement ever since the collaboration between Suriya and Jithu Madhavan first came into discussion.

Rashmika Hits Back at Trolls Over 'Red Flag' Remark on Vijay

Rashmika Mandanna has responded to the growing social media discussion about her relationship with Vijay Deverakonda. The actress shared a long statement explaining her feelings about love, marriage and the criticism surrounding their personal lives. Her words have attracted attention as fans continue to discuss the couple's recent appearance on Koffee With Karan 9.

Rashmika and Vijay recently spoke openly about their relationship, marriage and personal choices on the popular celebrity talk show. Some viewers criticised Vijay's comments and questioned his behaviour towards Rashmika. In particular, his statement that Rashmika had to ask him 100 times before he agreed to marry her became a major topic of discussion online.

The video made fun of people who overanalyse celebrities' behaviour and label them as red flags based on small details. Now, Rashmika has shared her side of the story through a detailed statement. She said that people had misunderstood the conversation and that their relationship was never about the number of times she asked Vijay or the length of time they took to get married.

She explained that both of them wanted time and space to understand each other and make sure they were making the right decision. She also said that their different personalities helped them balance each other. Rashmika further clarified that marriage was never about a grand proposal, getting down on one knee or wearing a ring.

Sreeleela Stands Apart From the Rest

In the film industry, getting opportunities after a series of flops is not easy for any heroine. Usually, one or two failures can affect an actress's career. Producers may hesitate to cast her in new films, and she may slowly lose her place in the industry. But Sreeleela seems to be different from many other actresses. Sreeleela made a strong impression on Telugu audiences with her energetic performances and dancing skills. After making her debut with Pelli SandaD, she gained attention among movie lovers.

Later, Dhamaka, starring Ravi Teja, became a major success and gave her career a big boost.

Several of her projects failed to impress audiences at the box office. Normally, such a phase could create problems for an actress. But Sreeleela continues to receive attention and new opportunities despite these setbacks. What makes her journey interesting is that her popularity has not completely disappeared even after facing commercial failures. She has built a strong image among young audiences, especially because of her screen presence, dancing talent, and energetic performances.

Another interesting point is that Sreeleela is getting opportunities beyond Telugu cinema.

She has also been associated with projects in other film industries, including Tamil and Hindi. Even though success in every industry is not guaranteed, filmmakers continue to show interest in working with her. There is also fresh buzz about her possible involvement in some exciting projects.

Reports suggest that Sreeleela may be part of Rajinikanth's Dharman and Teja Sajja's Mirai 2. However makers are yet to make an official announcement, so these reports should be treated as unconfirmed. Getting opportunities alongside major stars can be an important step in an actress's career. At the same time, she needs strong roles and successful films to turn those opportunities into long term success.

Venkatesh's 'Aadarsha Kutumbam' Gets U/A Certificate

The Central Board of Film Certification (CBFC) has now cleared director Trivikram's eagerly awaited entertainer, 'Aadarsha Kutumbam House No: 47 - AK 47', featuring one of Telugu cinema's top stars Venkatesh in the lead, for release with a U/A certificate.

The film is to hit screens worldwide on October 30 this year. It may be recalled that the makers had originally announced that the film would hit screens on October 2. They had then pushed the release date to October 9. However, the makers later announced that the film would hit screens on October 30 this year.

It may be recalled that a few months ago, the makers of the film had released a video clip introducing the character of actress Srinidhi Shetty in the film. Production house Haarika & Hassine Creations had taken to its X timeline to share the introductory video of Swarna, actress Srinidhi Shetty's character in the film.

He says, "These women only have attitude and no gratitude." Just as he says this, he looks up and notices that a woman standing on the balcony opposite his home is smiling nd waving to him. He says, "A woman ought to be like her. See how she smiles at me like a flower as soon as I saved her? On the other hand, look at my wife. She last smiled during our wedding when the photographer said, 'Smile please!'. After that, she hasn't smiled and always has a serious face." The introductory video next shows Swarna (Srinidhi Shetty) shyly smiling at another man. The makers had only recently disclosed that actor Rohith Nara had come onboard the unit of the film.

The makers also shared a poster of Rohith Nara from the film on the occasion. The poster shared gave the impression that the actor plays a cop in the upcoming film. The makers had released the title of the film in December last year. The title poster released by the makers had showed Venkatesh standing in the middle of the road, with a smile on his face.

He was seen holding a leather bag in his left hand with his right hand raised. The film, which was being tentatively referred to as #Venky77 initially, has triggered huge expectations as actor Venkatesh, whose most recent release 'Sankranthiki Vasthunam' was a blockbuster, has joined hands with one of his favourite directors Trivikram.
